STRAIGHT FROM THE HEART

With Executive Director Dan Gutman

Summer is here and downtown Sidney is humming with life! From the early morning rhythms of the Farmers Market to the late evening glow of the archway and alley lights, there's a kind of magic in the air – and it's not just the warmth and sunshine. It's people showing up. Connecting. Belonging.

Our Farmers Market season kicked off in May and runs through October, and it's already been full of fresh produce, friendly faces, and front-porch-style conversations. It's one of those simple, beautiful reminders of what we're really about: building something rooted and real.

Speaking of being rooted, if you've been downtown lately, you've probably noticed some new additions – new Sidney-branded flowerpots and trash receptacles featuring our community logo. These aren't just aesthetic upgrades (though they are pretty beautiful), they're symbols of what's possible when a community pulls together. Every single dollar for these enhancements came from privately donated funds through our Downtown Revitalization Fund. Not a penny of public money was used.

Even the flowers were donated! Crossway Farms not only supplied all the plants, they planted every single one – on a Thursday night, just days before hosting a family wedding at their farm. Forty pots. Hundreds of blooms. Hours of their time Right before one of the biggest weekends of their year. That's the kind of investment and generosity that inspires us and we hope it inspires you too. The revitalization fund, and the people behind it, are helping to shape a downtown that's as welcoming as it is beautiful.

This quarter, we're especially looking forward to The Downtown Putt Around and National Night Out. And even as we soak up the joys of summer, we're already dreaming up what's next, including a fall fundraiser to keep this momentum going strong. Of course, Sidney Alive isn't the only organization contributing to the vitality of our downtown. Many other businesses and organizations are hosting a variety of events and activities, which all work together to create a community we can all be proud of.

So, thank you – for showing up, for cheering us on, and for believing in this place. Whether you're carrying home tomatoes from the market, playing a round of putt-putt, hosting your own events, or simply walking downtown and taking it all in, just know: you are a vital part of what keeps Sidney alive.

(BTW, if you want to know about all the other events happening downtown go to sidneyalive.org/events. If you're a downtown business or organization and/or you're hosting an event, you can submit it there, so it gets added to our calendar!)
